“After one of the most significant product launches of the year, we’re excited to take the experience of training and playing with the all-new ‘HyperMotion’ gameplay engine to its fullest. Today we’re introducing HyperMotion — the original motion-capture engine that makes all this happen,” said Todd Sitrin, Vice President of Football at EA Sports. In a recent interview with OXM, PlayStation lead producer Adam Boyes talked about using motion-capture technology and how it will improve the sport. OXM: Moving to the FIFA engine, how do the motion-capture technologies work and what features does it add to the game? Adam Boyes: What the studio has done is make a new engine, the core engine of the game is the same. We build in support, many of them have been standard for a long time and they are improving all the time. What’s fantastic about this engine is the engine now is able to track and actually capture all the actions and movement in the game of football. Our VIR system that we have allows us to capture everything that we’re seeing on screen and record what the player is doing in-game. It’s an incredibly difficult capture to do so it’s only been possible by collaborating with some of the top companies around the world. We’ve been working with the crew at the VIR institute who track and record us in real time as we are playing through a game. We also have our engineers in our San Francisco studio. They work with the other guys to fit that technology into the game. That is how we have made it possible to be able to capture all the movement in the game, every tackle. What the player does in the middle of a game is now captured. Everything they do and how they do it is recorded and captured to allow us to create the hyperrealism in our simulation of football. OXM: We have seen how fans can play FIFA titles on their PS4 from a previous game to get familiar with a new game mode. Can you share more about your plans for Fifa 22 Activation Code Ultimate Team in FIFA Ultimate Team for PlayStation 4? Adam Boyes: Ultimate Team is a key pillar to the FIFA experience for both on console and on the move. It’s a game within a game and we’re always trying to make

Fifa 22 Features Key:

- LIVE FORCE: Live in the stadium as real players, react to your teammates, react to your opponents and face truly realistic, tightly-controlled football challenges.
- HYPERMOBILITY: Live in the stadium without boundaries as your shots and passes roll over players, walls and goalposts as balls ricochet unpredictably off surfaces. Injuries and real-world collisions affect your game in ways that no simulation ever could.
- “INTENSE” » “MESSY” » “VICIOUS”: Explore brand new ways to play the game with FIFA 22. Quick-Healing allows players to recover quickly from injuries and help defenders recover from being overwhelmed by an attacker. Players gain mass on the pitch over time, becoming more dangerous as they grow bigger and stronger than ever. Dare to mix the game together and find out what comes next. Every FIFA player wishes they could play on the perfect pitch, in the perfect venue, with a perfect game. FIFA 22 lets you design your own pitch, stadium and even calendar. The perfect game plays out differently depending on how you play and where you are, and your performance will determine the outcome of the game.
- CHOOSE YOUR OWN PATH: Create your own path in the game using a Build-a-Player system that allows you to fully customize your player’s appearance, attributes and skills. Choose the hairstyle, outfit, tackle-tackle and pitch style you want to use to make your pro’s career your own.

EA SPORTS FIFA is the most authentic football game available. Created by EA Canada, the critically-acclaimed soccer franchise returns with the biggest game enhancements in FIFA history. Whether you're a seasoned veteran looking to master the most accurate representation of real-world football, or a newbie ready to step on the pitch with millions of other pro players, FIFA delivers with even greater depth, intensity and excitement. Welcome to the 'League of Legends' of sports. What's new in FIFA? Improved player animation and movement Get the feeling of just being a player, without the limits of official restraints. EA SPORTS FIFA implements the FIFA Player motion system which gives each player the movement and control of the player they play as. A new weighting system ensures that all your movements are more authentic, creating a more natural feel. Players also feel more powerful and the game reacts more dynamically to your controls. It's all about the difference. New ball physics for better dribbling and passing control New ball physics - depending on the surface you use, your ball control and passing decisions are changed. The most challenging environments have new unpredictable characteristics which will require you to adapt your game play approach. Advanced ball model You'll notice that the ball will react to players and change its path mid-flight. Impact and movement changes depending on the surface and other elements that can affect the bounce. New face and head movement The head is now a dynamic, reacting object which will move based on impact, animation and the speed of the player. Matchday environments Sit in opposition dugouts at full-time and see the entire pitch or the press conference room in a new way. With new stadiums, player personalisation, exclusive visual content, and new features that impact your team. New on-pitch services Improvements to the pitch markings, assistant referees, and goal calls - highlighting the differences in the new gameplay engine. Fully customizable player kits Players can now go into the edit mode and make their own personalized player look and feel. With new materials, more customization points, and more levels of detail, players can create a unique look for their players. A more detailed crowd See the opposition fans in more detail and read the vocal commands of the crowd more easily. Over 190,000 words of crowd chatter have been added, making this year
